

Joseph's Star

Snow Storm #2

Snow
blusters, then
clusters on cold limbs.
Robins nibble red berries.
Pathways blocked with snow-packed mounds.
Vehicles stilled, hunch
in quiet
snow.

Ice
spears dangle
clear crystalline from roof, mailbox. Icicles rime branches. Clarity slices glow in fog or sun
warming to melt.

Folks
of snow or flesh revel in flakes
mounded into ball, on ponds on mountains, sidewalks, driveways– time to play, relax.
So let it
snow!
