

Monosyllable Couplets and Quatrains

She Likes To Draw

She likes to draw her own town
on large sheet- left, right, up, down,
She draws what she sees:
house, buds, pets and trees.
 a fence for a zoo
 a road to drive play car through a park so all can play
 a barn to store the hay
 a store with goods to give some woods for some to live
She likes her thoughts to stick.
She pours her thoughts on thick.
A huge white sheet waits
for her town with few gates.
Each hue takes on a glow.
It is her town you know.

Monosyllable Couplets: one-syllable words in rhyming couplets.

Moon Guy

James ran to the yard
He looked up for a star.
Could the clouds shroud
the moon so far?

He saw the clouds
so dark and gray.
They hid the moon
held it in their sway.

When the clouds moved
more clouds rushed in.
But look- the moon-
a speck, his grin.

Though the moon
still could hide,
James saw the moon
when the gray clouds glide.

Monosyllable Quatrains:
One-syllable words in quatrains
in any rhyme scheme of your choice.
You could add syllable count.