

Mono-Rhymed Triplets

Are we really Alive?

Where does consciousness live?
Does it survive
only where we think it is alive?

Do souls dwell only in flesh or do they mesh
in other dimensions and refresh?

What does it mean to be living?
What is awareness giving?
What are all the clues sieving?

What do we really know?
As far as senses go
our equipment is only so-so.

Am I really actually here?
All I hold dear
is not what it would appear?

What about the world of dreams—
a reality it seems?
Where are the boundaries or seams?

Alive? It is only a guess.
If I must assess
I can muster an unqualified yes.

Mono-Rhymed Triplets

1. Three- line stanza.
2. All three lines in each stanza rhyme.
3. Can use a syllable count or not.
4. Can center or not.